Amendments to the Abstract

Please add the following Abstract to this application.

--. A method and apparatus that inserts watermark signal into decoded video pictures where the watermark creation function is combined with the video decoder and makes use of compressed domain information to create a perceptually adaptive watermark signal.--